COVID Vaccine Injury Reports Grow in Number, But Trends Remain Consistent

Data released today by the CDC confirm several ongoing trends, including that 47% of deaths occurred in people who reported becoming sick within 48 hours of receiving a COVID vaccine, and 20% of deaths were cardiac-related.

According to data released today by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the number of injuries and deaths reported to the Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS) following COVID vaccines continues to climb.

Between Dec. 14, 2020, and Feb. 26, a total of 25,212 total adverse events were reported to VAERS, including 1,265 deaths and 4,424 serious injuries.

From the 2/26/2021 release of VAERS data:

Found 25,212 cases where Vaccine is COVID19

Table

 Event Outcome	 Count	 Percent
Death	1,265	5.02%
Permanent Disability	479	1.9%
Office Visit	3,888	15.42%
Emergency Room	22	0.09%
Emergency Doctor/Room	4,908	19.47%
Hospitalized	2,742	10.88%
Hospitalized, Prolonged	1	0%
Recovered	9,236	36.63%
Birth Defect	36	0.14%
Life Threatening	886	3.51%
Not Serious	8,946	35.48%
TOTAL	† 32,409	† 128.55%
† Because some cases have multiple vaccinations and symptoms, a single case can account for multiple entries in this table. This is the reason why the Total Count is greater than 25212 (the number of cases found), and the Total Percentage is greater than 100.

In the U.S., 70.45 million COVID vaccine doses had been administered as of Feb. 26.

VAERS is the primary mechanism for reporting adverse vaccine reactions in the U.S. Reports submitted to VAERS require further investigation before confirmation can be made that the reported adverse event was caused by the vaccine.

According to the latest data, 1,136 of 1,265 reported deaths were in the U.S. Of the total, 31% of the deaths occurred within 48 hours of vaccination, and 47% of deaths occurred in people who became ill within 48 hours of being vaccinated. Twenty percent of deaths were related to cardiac disorder.

Fifty-three percent of those who died were male, 45% were female and the remaining death reports did not include gender of the deceased. The average age of those who died was 77.8 and the youngest death confirmed was a 23-year-old.

As of Feb. 26, 180 pregnant women had reported adverse reactions to COVID vaccines, including 56 reports of miscarriage or premature birth. None of the COVID vaccines approved for Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) have been tested for safety or efficacy in pregnant women. Yet health officials are urging pregnant women to get the vaccine, and many are enthusiastically doing so. As The Defender reported:

“Even without data from Pfizer or Moderna sufficient to inform vaccine-associated risks in pregnancy, expectant doctors, nurses and others appear eager for the shots, perhaps influenced by the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, which states that ‘neither a conversation with a clinician nor even a pregnancy test are necessary prerequisites.’”

The World Health Organization on Jan. 27 issued guidance advising against pregnant women getting Moderna’s COVID vaccine — only to reverse that guidance two days later, as The New York Times reported. Pfizer announced last month that it was beginning COVID vaccine trials for pregnant women, but they don’t expect the trials to wrap up until January 2023.

This week’s VAERS data also included 1,414 reports of anaphylaxis, with 60% of cases attributed to the Pfizer-Bio-N-Tech vaccine and 40% to Moderna, and 298 reports of Bell’s Palsy.

As of Feb. 26, only the Pfizer and Moderna vaccines had been approved for emergency use in the U.S., but the U.S. Food and Drug Administration this week gave Johnson & Johnson’s COVID vaccine approval for emergency use. The one-shot vaccine started rolling out this week.

On Mar. 3, The New York Times reported that some people are experiencing an “angry-looking skin condition” after their first dose of the COVID vaccine -- with arms turning red, sore, itchy and swollen a week or more after the shot. Doctors said they wanted to share the information to “help prevent the needless use of antibiotics and to ease patients’ worries and reassure them that they can safely get their second vaccine shot.”

Dr. Hooman Noorchashm, an accomplished surgeon and patient safety advocate, wrote a second letter to the FDA urging the agency to require pre-screening for SARS-CoV-2 viral proteins in order to reduce COVID vaccine injuries and deaths. Noorchasm argued that at least a fraction of the millions of already infected Americans — especially the elderly, frail and those with serious cardiovascular comorbidities — are at risk of being harmed by a dangerous exaggerated immune response triggered by the COVID vaccine, reported The Defender on March 3.

On March 1, The Defender also reported that 25% of residents in a German nursing home died after receiving the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine. Reiner Fuellmich and Viviane Fischer, attorneys and founding members of the German Corona Investigative Committee, interviewed a caregiver in a Berlin nursing home who described what happened during and after the rollout of Pfizer’s COVID vaccine.

According to the FDA, as part of a vaccine’s EUA, it is mandatory that pharmaceutical companies and vaccination providers report “all serious adverse events, cases of Multisystem Inflammatory Syndrome and cases of COVID-19 that result in hospitalization or death to VAERS.”

In the UK, where only the Pfizer and AstraZeneca vaccines are being distributed, injuries related to both vaccines are coming into the government reporting system there.

As The Defender reported this week, between Dec. 9, 2020 (when the first COVID vaccine was administered in the UK) and Feb. 14, 2021, 402 deaths following COVID vaccines were reported to YellowCard, the UK government's system for reporting side effects to COVID-related medicines, vaccines, devices, and defective or falsified products. More reports were associated with the AstraZeneca vaccine, not yet approved in the U.S., than with the Pfizer product. In a letter written to but not published by The BMJ, John Stone wrote:

"It is also remarkable how unfavorably the Oxford-AstraZeneca data compare with the Pfizer data. MHRA data show 26,823 reports related to Pfizer vaccines, including 77,207 reactions, and 31,427 reports related to Oxford-AstraZeneca, including 114,625 reactions.

"Thus the Pfizer reports run at ~3.2 per 1,000 while the Oxford-AstraZeneca reports run at ~4.6 per 1,000: which translates to 43% more reports associated with the Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine compared with Pfizer.

"However, the Pfizer reports have an average of 2.9 reactions per report compared with 3.6 for the Oxford-AstraZeneca (again Oxford 24% higher) — so the rate of reactions reported is actually 77% higher overall for the Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine."

According to "Electronic Support for Public Health–Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System," a research project focused on improving the quality of physician adverse vaccine event detection and reporting to the national Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS), fewer than 1% of vaccine adverse events are ever reported.

"Low reporting rates preclude or slow the identification of "problem" drugs and vaccines that endanger public health," according to researchers.

On March 3, KUTV reported that there was a lack of information on how and where to report vaccine side effects. "Nationally, there have been very few reports on possible side effects and where to report them. Here in Utah, guiding people to the right resources post vaccine has not been a priority," The news outlet said.

Children's Health Defense asks anyone who has experienced an adverse reaction, to any vaccine, to file a report following these three steps.

Yet I know so many people who are lining up to get this "vaccine", despite its experimental status and low mortality rate of the disease.

My friend had a family member who had a stroke a few days after getting the first shot. I mention it to friends and family and get called a conspiracy theorist, etc. I'm really concerned with what the long term effects will be over the next year, 5 years, 10 years...

My mom had a seizure two weeks after the first shot (age 77 and a healthy person with no health problems), and was told it's either a tumor or damage from a stroke. There are 2 spots in the brain that showed up and are called lesions, with one being a bit larger than the other, but both overall small. So, one's considered (by one doctor) most likely a tumor--no explanation given about the other spot. I mentioned that she'd gotten the first COVID no explanation given about the other spot. I mentioned that she'd gotten the first COVID shot and both doctors said there was no connection whatsoever. Um, sure. The only thing that changed in my mom's life was that she'd gotten the first Pfizer shot.

This is extremely disconcerting. A few weeks ago, my uncle in Virginia had a stroke shortly after receiving the first vaccine dose. (I do not know which one.) The hospital staff told my cousin that there was no connection to the vaccine. It's as if they have been instructed to put that out immediately as a default disclaimer: it can't be the vaccine!

Which makes these doctors just as guilty of crimes against humanity too.

its insane because it is an experimental vaccine. for them to say 100% no possible connection is not scientific and not believable! how can so many doctors behave that way.

Excellent question and one that should be put to the medical community that are supporting this certain death sentence.

3 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

SLQ → Millicent Fenwick • 8 months ago

As they were incentivised to record all deaths as due to COVID-19, indubitably these hospitals and medical staff are being similarly incentivised to disclaim any connection between adverse reactions to the (totally!)

experimental vaccines.

It's just too coincidental--brain injuries following this "vaccine." And now Fauci's saying the shot only lasts 3 months. So, people will be getting this shot again and again and again. It's hard not to come to the conclusion that this is about population reduction. And yes, like Kay 56 said, this all sure looks like Crimes against Humanity.

Good observation. At some point, when your sworn oath is “to do no harm” more doctors need to be speaking up about the censored doctors who have documented the therapeutic interventions that treat Covid-19 successfully...and about the known and potential long term adverse effects of this “vaccine”!

I believe it's more of fear of their ability to practice medicine and affiliate with a hospital who can dump them at anytime. Few doctors or anyone else have enough integrity to fight this wrong, like the Front Line Doctors group. But I have lost all faith in the medical industry, govt, hospitals, and many physicians.

There is a healing tea called Essiac Tea & the ingredients of 4 herbs was given to a nurse back in 1924 that cures cancer, tumors, etc and anything that is wrong with the human body because it takes the immune system to 100 percent. I only get my herbs from Natural Heritage Enterprises in Creston, CO. A pal mistakenly purchased the herbs from another company for me at one time and I could immediately see the difference. So please, I urge you to use these woman's herbs of Burdock Root, Sheep Sorrel, Slippery Elm Bark & Rhubarb Root. Each packet makes 1/2 gallon. I prefer the herbs rather than the already made liquid. I make a gallon at a time to have ready to give to those who need. I get the 12 packet offer with 6 more for free and 25 pamphlets of literature to share with my part of the world. Here is their phone number: (888) 568-3036. LOVE WINS!!!!

Yes, the nurse who was given the recipe for the therapy was called Rene Caisse: she turned her surname backwards to create the name, Essiac. An excellent book detailing her work is called 'Calling of an angel'. It used to be available to read online, free, but don't know if that's still the case.

I am so sick of people saying that Covid is what killed anyone who had a comorbidity. No way any of their other conditions could have killed them. Yet, when someone dies after the shot or they have an adverse reaction. Oh, there has to be something else that caused their death. No way it could be the shot.

Since the CDC can not be trusted ever again and VAERS is only a voluntary system, what are the real numbers? I will bet outrageously higher.

Back in 2009, the CDC said that 22 million would die from the Swine flu. Turns out, Mengele Fauci was also behind this ruse and fake pandemic. How many died...about 13,000...pretty much in line with the regular reported yearly flu deaths. Just like now, where is the truth?

21 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Your Royal Highness → Ektor • 9 months ago

Actually people don't die from the flu but from pneumonia that they try to classify as complications from the flu. The whole flu death numbers are to hype fear and sell vaccines. Sound familiar yet? Wash...rinse..repeat. Fauci is a one trick pony.

Kim Clark → Your Royal Highness • 9 months ago

Yes and do you know the reason for the bacterial pneumonia? Wearing masks.

14 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Reallife housewife → Kim Clark • 8 months ago • edited

Fauci wrote a thesis about how most of those who died in the 1918-1919 "Spanish Flu" pandemic died from bacterial pneumonia from wearing masks. He is trying to get the same high death rate now by forcing masks. It gets more people to buy into his moderna vaccine retirement plan. So evil.

9 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

L Waters → Reallife housewife • 8 months ago

He wrote about the "Spanish Flu" pandemic being a combination of viral & bacterial infections, but NOTHING about masks. I'm sure he's read the more recent studies about the harm from masks & I do not doubt your opinion of his motivation
